This Week's News

What a great week! Thursday's end of the year celebration was a sweet time of reflection. I'm enjoying my DVD so much! Thank you again to Kelly for all her amazing hard work. Such a great gift!

Friday's Smith Family Farm trip was enjoyed by all. We all had favorite memories from our day. I loved the wagon ride and the children's enthusiasm for all the fruit we tasted. Yum, Yum!

Well, we've made it! The very important transition into academics and school life for your child has transpired this year! Not without bumps and bruises, but with joy and enthusiasm! They've grown in all areas, and I'm so proud of each of their hard work. It's been a pleasure having each precious child in our class this year. I've loved getting to know them and each of you as well. I feel truly blessed to have had you as parents this year. Thank you for your support and involvement throughout the year. Your obvious love, interest, devotion, and discipline will continue to shape your children into adulthood. I look forward to seeing you all next year!

Notes and Reminders

Please return the folder for this Friday.

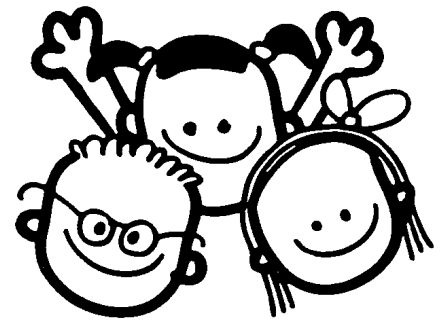

On Friday we will head to Larkey Pard at 10:30 for free time and a picnic lunch. We will be done by 11:45.

Upcoming Events

Please return any at home reading books.

Homework

Read, read, read!

Much love,
